

Abstract

A loop filter for a continuous time sigma delta analog to digital converter which converts an analog input signal into 5 a digital output signal, said loop filter comprising an active analog filter which includes active devices for providing a power gain, wherein the number of active devices is lower than the filter order of said active analog filter.

10 Fig. 3